TULIP TIME IN KELOWNA

Tulips in front of Sunnyvale school were in full bloom during the weekend as warm weather settled in Kelowna.

Admiring the colorful flowers is Sylvia Webster, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Webster of Okanagan Mission. The tulips in front of city hall also displayed their colors during the weekend and provided passers-by with a vivid reminder of spring.

Brady Admits One Crime But Denies Moor Burials

CHESTER, England (AP) — Ian Brady today admitted killing a 17-year-old youth and told a husband court his mistress helped him in a carefully planned plot to bury the body.

The 28-year-old stock clerk denied, however, that he had anything to do with the murder of two children whose bodies were found in shallow graves in the bleak Yorkshire moorlands.

Brady clashed repeatedly with Attorney General Sir Elwyn Jones as the "murder of the moors" trial went into the 10th day. There are indications the case that has brought revulsion to Britain will wind up this week.

Brady and his mistress, Myra Hindley, a 23-year-old stenographer, have pleaded not guilty. They are being tried for three murders before an all-male jury. Conviction could mean life imprisonment. The death penalty has been abolished in Britain.

'Splash Day' About Normal Two Shot

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Cries of "We'll be back!" drifted from hot rods and sports cars roaring out of this island city after a violent "splash day" weekend that saw hundreds of college-age youths arrested.

Two youths suffered serious gunshot wounds.

Police reported jailing nearly 300 young persons. Officers used tear gas and billy clubs twice Saturday to quell incidents.

Officers broke up a crowd of 3,500 on Galveston's east beach late Sunday after threatening to use tear gas. They rescued the beach within an hour.

Two brothers, David Franklin, 21, of Houston and Harold Franklin, 19, of Tyler were shot Saturday as they prepared to register at a motel near the beach. Police had no clues as to the assailants.

Police said they made arrests mainly for drunkenness, disturbing the peace, fighting and possession of alcoholic beverages among minors.

Lord Thomson's Daughter Dies

OAKVILLE, Ont. (CP) — Mrs. Glenn W. Brydson, 47, daughter of publisher Lord Thomson, died in hospital here early today.

Mrs. Brydson, the former Irma Thomson, had lived at nearby Port Credit for some years. Lord Thomson was notified in London today of his daughter's death and planned to fly here immediately.

Funeral arrangements are pending but services are expected to be private.

Besides her husband, a Port Credit real estate broker, Mrs. Brydson is survived by a daughter, Sherry, 19, a sister, Mrs. C. E. Campbell, also of Port Credit, and a brother, K. R. Thomson, president of Thomson Newspapers, Toronto. Mrs. Brydson's mother died in 1951.

Police Ponder Lemay Case

MOLESTER PROWLs THE PARK ACCOMPANIED BY LITTLE DOG

Two young girls were reported molested by a middle-aged man in a city park Sunday.

RCMP said the girls, in their early teens, were not harmed. They reported the incident to their parents who telephoned the police. The girls were playing in the Kinsmen Park at Wardlaw Ave. and Abbott St.

The man was described as between 35 and 45. He "looked like a business man," wearing a gray suit, white shirt and tie and was accompanied by a little brown and white dog.

Jets Destroy Soviet Rockets

SAIGON (CP) — U.S. Navy jet bombers destroyed a Russian-supplied anti-aircraft missile site in North Viet Nam Sunday after it launched a missile at them and missed, a U.S. military spokesman said today.

The bomber hit the site, located about 34 miles northwest of the part of Vinh, with radio-guided Bullpup air-to-surface missiles and 500- and 1,000-pound bombs.

American planes flew more than 300 sorties against suspected Communist targets in North Viet Nam. For the second day in a row B-52s pounded Viet Cong troop areas near the Cambodian border.

U.S. spokesmen reported the loss of two more planes over North Viet Nam, raising the total shot down there to 227, but the pilots of both were rescued by helicopters.

A U.S. spokesman claimed the toll in the ground war, now in third week, was the result of

Rhodesian Officials In London To Confer On Nation's Future

LONDON (AP) — A small group of Rhodesian officials is expected in London Tuesday to open informal talks on settling the breakaway colony's future, political sources said today.

Once first soundings have been made, they added, the talks can be expected to switch to Salisbury, the Rhodesian capital, or perhaps to a neutral ground.

If they make progress, and commentators can detect little optimism on either side, they logically would lead to a conference to rewrite the Rhodesian constitution and couple independence with guarantees for Negro advancement.

British government officials declined all comment on the imminent arrival. This was in line with Prime Minister Wilson's declared aim to keep the early contacts as much out of the spotlight as possible.

But informed sources said the British side almost certainly will include Oliver Wright, foreign affairs adviser in Wilson's secretariat, and Duncan Watson of the Commonwealth relations office.

Both men played key roles in the hush-hush bargaining which last week produced surprise agreement to get talks moving—the first step toward settlement since Rhodesia seized independence from British authority last Nov. 11.

Kaiser's Kin Found In Rhine No Official Suicide Evidence

BINGEN, West Germany (Reuters) — Mystery today surrounded the death of Prince Friedrich of Prussia, 34-year-old grandson of Germany's last kaiser, whose body was fished out of the Rhine Sunday almost two weeks after he disappeared.

Police were unable to establish the cause of death and planned to move the body today to Mainz, where the public prosecutor will decide whether to order an autopsy.

The Associated Press quoted German authorities as saying suicide is indicated but the chief prosecutor in charge of the investigation, Hans Klein, said: "There is no definite evidence. The official cause of death has yet to be determined."

The prince's body was spotted in the water early Sunday, only two days before a divorce action by his British wife, Lady Guinness, was due to be heard before a court in Frankfurt.

The body was identified by a police sergeant who knew the prince and a member of the staff of Heinrich Hartmann Castle—a former Hohenzollern residence converted into a luxury hotel—where the prince was last seen alive April 10.

DECLINES COMMENT

The head of the House of Hohenzollern, Prince Louis Ferdinand, brother of the dead man and now the last survivor of Kaiser Wilhelm's four grandsons, declined to comment on Prince Friedrich's death.

Lady Guinness and the prince were married in 1945 and had three sons and two daughters.

Prince Ferdinand spent most of the last 30 years in Britain. He was the fourth son of Crown Prince Friedrich Wilhelm and a great-grandson of British Queen Victoria.

In 1953, he acquired dual citizenship by readmission as a German subject.

Lower Mainland Accidents Boost Highway Fatality Figure

Don Danielson, 19, of Vancouver was killed early Saturday when he fell 100 feet into Lyons Canyon in North Vancouver while hiking in the dark.

Canada's weekend accidental death toll reached at least 48, with about three-quarters of the fatalities occurring on traffic mishaps. The others include seven drownings, two fire deaths, a man killed by a train and another by a fall from a cliff and a man killed when his car fell on him.

Ontario registered 18 deaths in a Canadian Press survey from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday, local times—12 in traffic, two drownings, two in fires, the train fatality and the man whose car fell on him.

Quebec also had 12 highway deaths. Four persons were drowned in the province.

New Brunswick reported three traffic fatalities, and Manitoba and Alberta each had two.

One person drowned in Newfoundland.

CALGARY (CP) — A sombre advice on standards and responsible provincial activities," he said.

Even in the provinces, responsibility was divided among cities, counties and other municipalities.

Highways were a provincial responsibility primarily, but the federal government, answerable to the country as a whole, surely had an obligation to ensure safety.

"The task for us is to achieve this aim while still respecting the jurisdiction of the various provincial governments."

ACCIDENTS INCREASE
Traffic mishaps accounted for 43 per cent of all accidental deaths in Canada. Motor vehicle accidents had been on the increase alarmingly in 1962 and the trend continued.

Mr. Cote said that to reduce highway deaths five different approaches had to be taken—highway design, adult education, juvenile education, rigorous law enforcement, and improved auto design.

Supply Debate Opens In House - Liberals On Fairly Safe Ground

OTTAWA (CP) — The life of the minority Liberal government hangs back on the line today as the Commons opens a two-day supply debate.

Opposition MPs will have an opportunity to introduce non-confidence motions on any issue they choose. The Liberals are two seats short of a majority but are virtually assured of support from the five-man Social Credit group.

Wednesday the House will discuss the proposed federal electoral map for Manitoba. Objections to the electoral maps of eight other provinces were aired in a three-day debate last week. A total of 27 petitions signed by 158 MPs were submitted to the Speaker, covering every province except Newfoundland.

After the debate ends Wednesday, the Speaker must refer the stenographic record to the 10 non-political commissions that recommended a sweeping redistribution of federal ridings.

The commissions will have 30 days to prepare final reports or to prepare to accept or ignore the MPs' objections. The final reports will be passed to the next federal election.

Texas Bashed By New Floods

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Rivers made powerful by the relentless storms of recent weeks threatened still more damage across flood-battered Texas today.

The rains subsided in all but south Texas, where deluges Sunday of up to five inches sent the Nueces and Rio rivers out of their banks.

In Dallas, the normally lazy Trinity River gushed furiously at levees protecting local industrial and residential areas as the river neared a crest of 41.3 feet, more than 11 feet above flood stage.

Additional flooding was feared on the Brazos, Sabine, Cypress, Sulphur and Red rivers in the north Central and northeast Texas. Hardest hit by the 10 days of constant thunderstorms.

The number of deaths in Dallas blamed on the weather for the last five days rose to 10 Sunday when a car carrying five persons was swept into the Trinity by flood waters.

Fugitive Now In Interior?

VANCOUVER (CP) — The search for an escaped prisoner which resulted in the death of a prison guard shifted Sunday to the British Columbia interior.

Police said Robert Walter Axt, 16, of Calgary apparently eluded search parties on Burnaby Mountain during the weekend and now is believed in the Cache Creek area.

Axt bolted from a party Friday night during a prison-authorized tour of Simon Fraser University at the summit of the mountain in suburban Burnaby.

Burton Blacker, 24, a guard at the Haney Correctional Institute, chased Axt as the prisoner disappeared in the bush and apparently stumbled and plunged down a ravine.

His body was found 16 hours later.

MUNSINGER CASE

Does Mafia Also Have An Interest

OTTAWA (CP) — What was Gerda Munsinger's relationship with the Montreal underworld? This is one of the big questions left unanswered in evidence given so far to the royal commission investigating the German blonde's associations with members of the Diemacher cabinet.

The commission was told last week the RCMP believed that Mrs. Munsinger was extremely vulnerable to pressure and that any persons associating with her were prime targets for blackmail by racketeers.

Commission counsel J. L. O'Brien said the RCMP security file on the Munsinger case says that during her stay in Montreal prior to 1961, she associated with people thought to be connected with the underworld.

The file also reported that at one time she had paid "protection money," along with other Montreal call girls.

Claude Wagner, Quebec justice minister, told the investigating committee recently that his department has a file on Mrs. Munsinger's alleged ties with Montreal racketeers.

The German playgirl herself told reporters in Munich a few weeks ago that she would want heavy police protection if she ever returned to Canada, because she feared violence from a Montreal racketeer. She did not elaborate.

MAKES OTHER MENTION
Other references to crime have cropped up in evidence before the inquiry conducted by Mr. Justice Wishart-Spence of the Supreme Court of Canada.

The commission was told that an RCMP officer who supervised a 24-hour surveillance of Mrs. Munsinger for nearly three months in Montreal late in 1960 and early in 1961 recommended her case be referred to the criminal investigation branch in connection with smuggling.

Former RCMP commissioner C. W. Harvison testified that an officer identified only as McGill had reported Jan. 24, 1961, that Mrs. Munsinger was of no further interest to RCMP intelligence and that the criminal investigation bureau should take over.

There was no elaboration of the reference to smuggling.

RCMP Commissioner George McClellan testified that during her stay in Canada, Mrs. Munsinger made trips to Colombia, Panama, Belgium, Mexico, Germany and Britain. He did not elaborate on the purpose of the trips.

The inquiry was told that the RCMP file branded Mrs. Munsinger as a thief and bad-check passer, as well as a prostitute and former Communist agent in Germany.

Some of the questions arising from the testimony may be answered when hearings resume May 9.

MP Demands Strong RCMP

MONTREAL (CP)—Eric Nielsen, Progressive Conservative MP for the Yukon, called in Montreal for a strong RCMP to fight organized crime in Canada.

Organized crime in Canada has reached "extremely dangerous proportions and must be checked," he told a meeting of the suburban Mount Royal Women's Progressive Conservative Association.

There is a need for a strong police force that will not be subjected to jurisdictional disputes, thereby watering down its effectiveness.

The RCMP is there but it deserves far more support than it is getting at the present time. It must be given greater authority in order to mould a strong cohesive force with power to act.

AGREES WITH WAGNER
He agreed with Quebec Justice Minister Claude Wagner's recommendation of a royal commission to investigate organized crime. Prime Minister Pearson rejected the proposal Thursday, saying Quebec was the only province to favor it fully.

Mr. Nielsen said the RCMP should be given complete power to act in cases of fraudulent bankruptcy, extortion and protection rackets.

"I am, however, treating them with care. I don't want any doubt about my disclosures. So far all I have received from the government are evasive answers to my questions."

Mr. Nielsen said he has 60 to 75 cases in his files dealing with fraudulent bankruptcies. "The people of Quebec are concerned and want the situation cleared up," he said.

Four other persons, including two firemen, were injured in the general alarm fire which swept the four-story frame building. Twelve other occupants escaped injury.

Dead are Mrs. Pearl Sullivan, William Sargent, Frank P. Bejaski, 49, and an unidentified man.

'Chutist Critical

WORTHINGTON, Minn. (AP)—Nick Plantasia was in critical condition today after a sudden equipment failure forced him to make a dangerous 57,000-foot descent from his high-altitude balloon. The failure ruined his third attempt to break the world record for free-fall parachuting.

Plantasia, his oxygen cut off, was parachuted to earth Sunday and taken unconscious from the open gondola.

He lost consciousness because of the sudden change of atmospheric pressure. He wore a pressurized flight suit and helmet, but the pressure was lost when a pneumatic seal around the helmet face plate apparently failed.

The balloon was launched Sunday morning at Sioux Falls, S.D., 45 miles west of the southwestern Minnesota city. It was May Day, and the 35-year-old daredevil from New Jersey wanted to top the free-fall record of 55,323 feet now held by a Russian, Eugene Andreev.

Plantasia had another goal. He wanted to learn whether a man could fall from the stratosphere at supersonic speed without a stabilizing device and without impairing health.

An ascent of 125,000 feet was planned.

The balloon climbed 1,000 feet a minute.

NEAR WHOOSH
At 37,000 feet, ground technicians heard a "whoosh" on the radio. They feared immediately that it was the sound of air escaping from Plantasia's pressurized suit.

In 16 seconds from the time the "whoosh" was heard, the gondola was cut loose from a parachute descent.

It took about 25 minutes for the gondola to reach the ground near Lakefield, Minn., about 20 miles east of Worthington. Plantasia, gasping for breath, was taken to hospital.

Doctors gave him drugs to correct his blood chemistry. Plantasia underwent a tracheotomy, in which a tube was inserted in his throat to ease breathing. A medical spokesman said the parachutist was suffering "from secondary changes from a lack of oxygen."

MERGER CREATES A GIANT
New U.S. Rail Era Dawns

NEW YORK (AP)—A new era in the history of U.S. railways dawned last week with Interstate Commerce Commission approval of the merger of the New York Central and Pennsylvania railroads.

The combination was the largest corporate merger in history and it will create the world's largest privately owned railway system.

It will mean, say the heads of the two rail systems, improved passenger and freight service and possibly lower rates and fares.

The marriage of the Central and the Penn has been in the making. It was proposed by the late Robert Young, chairman of the Central, in 1937.

The merger, effective in June, will create a system with assets of more than $4,100,000,000 and 40,912 miles of track. It will have 4,506 locomotives, 205,224 freight cars and 5,717 passenger cars.

SEE BIG SAVINGS
Officials of the two lines have estimated that annual savings in operations of $80,000,000 can be effected within five years.

Quebec Campaign Starts For Lesage, Opposition

QUEBEC (CP)—Premier Lesage and Opposition Leader Daniel Johnson hit the hustings Sunday as the June 5 provincial election campaign warmed up in Quebec.

Mr. Lesage officially opened his campaign at a political rally in Sherbrooke. Mr. Johnson, at a rally in Montreal, unveiled his party platform.

The premier drew an audience of 2,000. Mr. Johnson had about 1,000.

In Quebec City, some 250 persons showed up for the start of a campaign by a new political party called Le Ralliement National (The National Rally).

Mr. Lesage said he wants a new mandate so that he can press the claims of Quebec in Ottawa. Quebec must become more prosperous, more efficient, more human, and stronger than ever, he said.

"We must be firm without animosity and sure of ourselves without being arrogant."

STAYERS LABOR AIM
Mr. Lesage said one of the claims of Quebec is in the field of labor and manpower, which the central government has been avoiding.

Mr. Lesage, who continues his campaign today in Ste. Therese, north of Montreal, said his audience "we shall have a department of labor and manpower."

In Montreal, Mr. Johnson said the Union Nationale wants to stay in Confederation. But he said, "we want a new alliance."

The party platform calls for the "extension of Quebec's political and sovereignty" with regard to "internal policies and external affairs." This meant that Quebec would seek representation at the United Nations and would set up its own department of immigration.

The Union Nationale platform also calls for the establishment of a Quebec radio and television network to "diminish the influence of Anglo-American culture." In addition it asks for complete control by the Quebec government over income taxes, corporation taxes and succession duties as well as social security funds.

WON'T BE STRANGERS
In a speech to party supporters, Mr. Johnson said that under a Union Nationale government, "no Quebecer who is not of the French culture will feel like a stranger here."

"We do expect more of you English-speaking members to be elected in this election."

He also said three members of the former members of the federal Progressive Conservative party will support the Union Nationale in the provincial election.

He said the three are Clement Vincent, the present member of the Commons for Nicolet-Yamaska, who will run for the Union Nationale in the provincial constituency of Nicolet; Jean-Noel Tremblay, sometime MP for Roberval; and Rene Paul Berthier—Maskinonge-De la Riviere.

Mr. Paul quit the Conservative party last year along with Leon Balcer, who has been chosen to run for the provincial Liberals in Trois-Rivieres. Both had complained about the leadership of Conservative Leader Diefenbaker.

In Quebec City, Le Ralliement National put forth its own platform, promising that the party, if it came to power, would set up a Bank of Quebec. It would establish a "Radio Quebec" and a Quebec news agency.

Trucks Roll Again In Ontario But Higher Costs Expected

TORONTO (CP)—The 14-week truckers strike which paralyzed portions of southern Ontario's inter-city trucking ended Sunday, but higher trucking rates are forecast and few trucks are expected on the highways today.

A spokesman for the 55 trucking companies that were involved in the strike by the International Brotherhood of Teamsters (I.B.T.) said it may be one or two weeks before large companies get their fleets ready to roll.

He added that some firms were calling in the mechanics and maintenance men Sunday night in attempts to have the trucks moving today.

The consensus at a meeting of trucking firm representatives Sunday night was that trucking rates will have to be increased because of the new contracts, the spokesman said.

The strike, involving some 8,500 drivers and maintenance men, officially ended Sunday.

MUCH WORK INVOLVED IN SATURDAY'S COURIER

When the Daily Courier hit the streets Saturday, it contained four special progress sections besides the regular edition. These women were largely responsible for inserting the special sections into the newspaper. They are, left to right, Mrs. Fred Armstrong, Mrs. Karl Wolf and Mrs. Ruby Casser. They had to insert each section separately into about 9,000 newspapers. Multiply that by four sections and they stuffed about 36,000 newspapers. It took them a total of 44 "women hours". This is a heap of work for three small ladies.

Jaywalkers Find Bernard Is Costly

Bernard Ave. is the only street in Kelowna where jaywalking is illegal. Signs point out the fact but they don't point out the price.

City clerk, James Hudson, said the tendency to jaywalk is greater on a main street like Bernard Ave. and this poses a problem to the city and to the offender.

The city's problem is one of control while the jaywalker is staying out of accidents long enough to be able to pay his fine.

The monetary value to the jaywalker who is caught is a fine not exceeding $100. Other values include arms, legs, and fractions," he said.

During the year the law has been in effect no fatalities have been recorded as a result of jaywalking.

Sgt. Phillips said most jaywalkers are warned before any action is taken.

The warnings have helped to keep the street clean, he said, but the chances of being killed in a crosswalk are much less than in the middle of a busy street.

"Walk a few extra steps to a crosswalk or street light," he said, "it may save you a bit of money and also your health."

The bylaw regarding jaywalkers is a recent one, Mr. Hudson said. It was introduced on Dec. 28, 1964 and became law on Feb. 11, 1965.

Signs were put up immediately to notify potential jaywalkers they would have to pay their share on other streets or pay for the privilege of illegally using Bernard Ave.

RCMP Staff Sgt. G. A. Phillips said the bylaw was most difficult to enforce during the summer when tourists were crowding city streets.

MUSICALLY SPEAKING

With BETHEL STEELE

"Dvorak, the singer of life's joys." So states Grove's dictionary of music in its article on the composer.

Sunday afternoon those fortunate enough to take advantage of the occasion were given as I said previously... a magnificent performance of one of the most beautiful concertos in the literature for solo instrument and symphony orchestra.

The Dvorak "Cello Concerto in B minor, Opus 104 is indeed an adornment for any symphony program: Vancouver's Ernst Friedlander in company with Capt. Leonard Camplin and the combined Vancouver Metropolitan and Okanagan Valley Symphonies should be very proud indeed of Sunday's performance of it.

When one considers that in the main this is an amateur aggregation and that those participating professionals from the Royal Canadian Engineers Band are either members of the Metropolitan or in for the last analysis, the results are indeed outstanding.

Rightful recognition of Mr. Friedlander's contribution in his short association with the musicians is only proper. I am certain that every one must have grown in musical stature because of his kindly help and suggestions.

During the last rehearsal he told the players that if he seemed demanding it was because he felt they were capable of these small and fine details and that they were meant as compliments rather than as criticisms. He thanked the orchestra for himself and Capt. Camplin.

The Dvorak concerto is the supreme climax to everything our orchestra has done in the past.

Acoustically Kelowna's theatre is superior to the Penitence or Vernon facilities... that is the audience can hear everything and the players each other somewhat more than elsewhere. Consequently, Sunday we heard the solo instrument very nearly always.

The cello is the velvet toned voice of the orchestra. It sings a golden song and under Mr. Friedlander's fingers its shimmering thread of sound evoked the passionate beauty of the Dvorak melodies. I have known the so-called "thread of sound" to be criticized by those unfamiliar of its implications but to me this is as it should be.

So much of this concerto consists of ensemble work of the winds with the solo instrument. This is part of Dvorak's mastery of instrumentation. We must be grateful to Mrs. Bulman for her last minute assistance and for the beauty of her playing. Sunday the balance was right... there was silver perfection here as the two instruments wove their tapestry of sound.

There is nothing more difficult for the wind player than soft playing... this was evident in the last section of the last movement where the full orchestra accompanies the solo instrument. The "piano" was not always a fact as against the "Cello fortissimo.

There is no doubt that Mr. Friedlander has made this concerto his own and I doubt that he will ever give it a more urgently beautiful reading than he gave us Sunday afternoon.

It is sad but a fact that everything else on the program was an anticlimax. Even so the Oberon music was well played. I wonder if the violins could consider playing the Weber without vibrato. The tone here might be white for the fairy music thus overcoming the tendency to sharpen and perhaps be closer to the composer's intentions.

The Grieg music under Mrs. Coates' baton played by the strings only was lovely with long spinning phrases. The string tone evoked the clear transparency of the northern spring. This was stylization at its finest.

A welcome back to Janet Henriksen on bass... the four certainly made the difference in balance from last week. Sigurd Anne Thors was in her old place in the cello section. Welcome home Anne.

As Capt. Camplin stated, "The Dvorak will be hard to follow up with anything of its musical stature." But we wish the organization of the two orchestras good luck for a continuation of the present format, and thank you all for a wonderful experience.

Centennial Celebrations Start Officially Wednesday

Kelowna will combine a bit of the old with some of the new Wednesday in celebrating the official opening of B.C.'s centennial year.

An old English type town crier will read a declaration of the centennial from a scroll at a special city council meeting Wednesday at 9:30 a.m., then advance about a 100 years by reading the declaration from a sound truck at various intersections.

After the council meeting the mayor, led by an RCMP color party and armed forces representatives, will move from city hall to the museum site for a sod turning ceremony.

The museum, in the city's civic square is Kelowna's official centennial project.

From there the official party moves to City Park for the official centennial flag raising ceremony. Centennial officials will also speak to students at city schools about the meaning of the centennial.

Split On College Issue By Vernon City Council

The Vernon city council appears undecided on the regional college issue.

Mayor L. H. Mercer cast the deciding vote last week on a resolution calling for the city's stand. The resolution was proposed by Ald. Harold Thorsen. Three other members were opposed and three voted in favor.

The four-point motion calls for a review of the regional college issue, across Okanagan Lake from Kelowna, a review of leasing as opposed to buying, a cost survey into essential services and assurance in writing from the provincial government of the extent of its participation.

A story from Vernon quotes Ald. Nick Turk as saying the motion appeared to be more of a policy statement than a resolution.

He said if the council is prepared to accept the recommendations of experts on such matters as highway development, it should be equally prepared to accept the findings of experts in educational matters.

Mr. Thorsen said the council was not attacking the criteria used by college site experts to determine the location but feels the situation was altered with the withdrawal of the Penitence School District.

The council wants a thorough review of the entire position of the site in view of the withdrawal of Penitence, to ensure

Mr. Cottle will speak about flower gardens and type of material used in such gardens. His talk will be illustrated with slides.

TWO BLAZES

The Kelowna Fire Brigade answered two calls during the weekend.

The interior of an older model car was demolished Sunday at 11:55 a.m., in the 700 block Rose Ave. The fire was believed caused by a short in the electric wiring, a wireman said.

Kelowna men were called to the 500 block on Bay Ave., at 1 a.m. today to attend a flooded oil burner. No serious damage resulted, a fireman said.

KELOWNA PROMOTED

Kelowna is being represented at the Northwest Trade Fair in Edmonton today.

James Donald, Kelowna Industrial Commissioner, left during the weekend for Edmonton, where he will be in charge of a booth promoting Kelowna.

He will remain at the week-long fair until it ends, then go to Calgary for two days to discuss industrial matters.

Rosy Provincial Picture Explained By Peterson

Mechanization has not deprived any B.C. loggers of their jobs and will not do so in the future.

Labor Minister Leslie Peterson said since 1956 the output of the lumber industry has more than doubled and yet there is the same number of loggers employed now as there was 10 years ago.

He made the statement before about 15 loggers in the Memorial Arena Saturday at the Interior Logging Association convention.

Mr. Peterson said as far as the future is concerned, this trend should continue and the worry about loggers losing their jobs is not warranted.

DEPARTMENT AWARE

He said the department of labor is aware of the logging industry and appreciates what it is doing for B.C. The logging industry has the foresight to take advantage of opportunity.

He said his job has not been as easy one. There have been setbacks and restraints, but the part it has played in the growth of B.C. is nevertheless monumental.

Mr. Peterson said this is B.C.'s centennial year. He said it was more than 100 years ago that Captain John Douglas said he didn't care about B.C.

WHAT SAY NOW

He said it was later reported that when the gold rush ended, the province would go from bad to worse.

"I can't help wondering," he said, "what these men would say if they could see the province today, looking at its tremendous growth and development."

Saturday was the final day for the convention. Following the election of officers, a luncheon was held.

INTERIOR COURSES

He suggested there could be logging courses set up in the Interior. At present, no definite plans are in effect for a course, but "if there is a large enough demand and industry-wide request for it, the course will be instituted."

"We are prepared to develop these programs where the need

Knox Mountain Hill Climb Date Nears, Interest High

More than 65 participants from places as far away as California are expected to take part in the Okanagan Auto Sport Club hill climb in Kelowna May 22.

The climb will be on a two-mile course up Knox Mountain Park Rd.

Cars of as much as to 400 horsepower will compete with each other, trying to set the test time from bottom to top of the road.

Drivers will combine co-ordination, "hopped up" cars and practiced driving skills to win the race. The drivers will not compete with each other in the sense that they will race side by side up the hill, but will run separately, comparing their times.

John Sharples, of the auto club, said recently he feels this race will grow to international status and will attract some of the top drivers in the world.

Westbank, Rutland Men Receive Jail Sentences

Two jail sentences were imposed by Magistrate D. M. White Monday.

Charged with impaired driving, second offence, Julius Blasko, Rutland, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to one month in jail. He was prohibited from

Valley's Vegetable Plant Location Not Yet Decided

A new vegetable packing plant in the Kelowna-Vernon area, is still a debatable question to the secretary-treasurer of the Interior Marketing Board.

F. N. Magee said today that until the investigating committee makes a definite decision and all cost factors are looked into, it would be foolish to speculate on any of its plans.

The investigating committee, including chairman R. C. Freeze of Salmon River, Brian Clee of Kelowna, and E. M. King of the B.C. department of agriculture, has been discussing the feasibility of the packing plant since its proposal in December, 1965.

Mr. Magee said it now appears the site would be in the Vernon area but warned against any further speculation of the committee's plans.

The committee is expected to make its first definite decision this month.

Two firms of engineers have been engaged to draw plans of the packing plant, which is expected to handle vegetables from all interior growers.

Vegetable growers now have six plants at which their products are handled; one in Kelowna, one in Westbank and four in Vernon.

If the plant is approved, construction could be completed in time for next year's crop, Mr. Magee said.

Red Cross Blood Donor Olga Horn Memorial Trophy Will Be Presented Tuesday

The Red Cross blood donor Olga Horn Memorial Trophy will be presented Tuesday at 2 p.m. to the firm of Fruit Growers Mutual Insurance Co.

Presentation will be made to Hugh Earl on behalf of the firm by Mrs. Richard Stirling, chairman of the blood donor committee.

The trophy is presented to the firm having the largest percentage of eligible donors attend the clinic, held April 19 to 21.

CARPET PLANT NEARING COMPLETION

The Westmills Carpets Ltd. production plant is nearing completion. The $1,250,000 project is being built east of Kelowna, near the overpass in the Ellison district. This is the first phase of the development and has a floor space of 30,000 square feet. It will employ about 25 men initially.

The company sales doubled this year. It will have a yearly capacity of about 250,000 square yards of carpet and rug. It will export its products to Australia.

When Peter Went Fishing

"I am going fishing," Simon Peter looked over the little group of disciples and made this sudden assertion. The events of the recent past had been just too much for him. That terrible Friday when his Master had been crucified in disgrace had shattered his hopes. The memory of that night in the garden, along with the many other grim details, had left him almost in a state of shock. To make things more confusing, strange things had happened since. One morning he had been sure he had seen the risen Christ, and he was utterly confused.

Peter needed time to think. So he decided to go fishing, and all the other followers seemed to jump at the chance to go with him.

So, they got out a huge fishing boat and set out on the familiar Sea of Galilee. The sea, the unfolding of the nets, the pushing out from the shore, seemed to serve as a calming influence on them.

The night was long, and they caught no fish, but it didn't seem to matter. The quiet solitude of the night, the lapping of the water against the side of the boat, the smell of the lake breeze, and the silent stars overhead seemed to have some sort of healing.

In the dim hours of the morning, they pulled in their nets and reluctantly pulled in towards the shore, more discouraged than before. As they drew near, they saw a dim figure come to meet them. He called out that age-old question, "Have you caught anything?" "Not a thing," "Try the other side." Probably they thought the stranger had seen a school of fish. They took his advice, immediately they felt a strong pull that told them they had made a catch. Simon Peter was the first to grasp the situation, and jumping into the sea he quickly ran up to the Master. It was then that the Master made clear to Peter that he was to rededicate his life, which he did.

Sometimes there may come to us some overwhelming crisis that may leave us in confusion and bewilderment.

Sometimes we need to give ourselves a time to think in the quietness of a different area.

Then sooner or later there must come back into life the Lord Jesus Christ on the shore, saying, "How are things going?" We should then be ready to turn again to God's plans for our lives. Slowly but surely the mist will clear, and we must heed again the call of Christ and humanity, and then refreshed and encouraged we rededicate our lives to "HIS" service.

—Pastor William Miller, "Church of God."

C'est Magnifique, Mais...

(Ottawa Packet and Times)

To anyone who believes that Canada is a combination of two roughly equal communities, English and French, each with an equal right to enjoy its own distinctive language anywhere in the land, then the decision of the federal government to make the civil services bilingual throughout the nation is sound and sensible. By offering financial inducements and priority in promotion to bilingual civil servants and establishing time limits within which change must be made, the Pearson government is undertaking to make the entire civil service bilingual in all its significant branches. This will mean, proponents of the measure claim that a French Canadian may be received in his own language at any federal office anywhere in Canada, just as an English-speaking Canadian may be. What, it may be asked, could be fairer than that?

Of course nothing could be fairer, were Canada indeed a partnership of equal cultures. But, of course, the fact is that Quebec, however large and significant a province, cannot be weighed in the scales as the equal of all the other nine provinces, together, nor can the French-speaking few be rated equivalent to the English-speaking many. To put it bluntly, Canada is basically an Anglo-Saxon country, almost entirely the creation of English-speaking people. And while it would be manifestly unfair for the English-speaking majority to deny the French-speaking minority its right to speak the language of its choice, it is surely more unfair to insist that the English-speaking majority be tyrannized by the French-speaking minority, and forced to concede equal rights across the country to a minority tongue. Surely it is absurd for all the thousands of civil servants throughout the enormous English-speaking reaches of the nation to learn French in order to be able to accommodate an occasional French-speaking visitor, who, in almost every instance, can also speak English.

Yet the absurdity and unnecessary nuisance of the measure is but the least of its drawbacks. The really serious effect of the scheme is that it will enshrine, for all time, the concept of this nation as a permanently divided community, each section with its own separate and distinct identity. All history shows that so divided a nation must inevitably fall; the chaos in Belgium today is merely the latest disaster occasioned by a policy of official bilingualism. The fact is that such a dual identity is a fatally divisive element in any nation, one which is bound to be seized upon in the turmoil of partisan politics, and to be a continuing source of divided loyalty.

Canada cannot survive as a bilingual, bicultural nation. We would do better to appreciate that fact now, and to plan our destinies accordingly, than to embark upon a program of biculturalism that is destined to failure from the beginning. For all its high-flown aspirations and noble pretensions, the concept of biculturalism is historically discredited, and its espousal by the current government an act of fatal folly.

New York Divorce Law

The state of New York has liberalized its divorce laws. For two centuries the only grounds for divorce in that state has been adultery, just as it is in Canada.

Under the new law the adultery ground for divorce is expanded to include homosexuality and sodomy and the following grounds are added: cruel and inhuman treatment, abandonment for two years, imprisonment for three consecutive years and living apart for two years after first obtaining a court separation decree or entering into a routine separation agreement.

In this country our politicians have not the intestinal fortitude to amend our archaic laws. Just about everyone agrees some corrections should be made but those whose duty it is to do it are afraid to.

A DOVE BETWEEN TWO HAWKS

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

HUNTERS LOOK!

Having hunted deer and other game in various parts of Canada during the past 50 years, it has been interesting to note some of the changes that have taken place.

We, as sportsmen, should be supporters of any measures that will insure good hunting for the present and also future generations. Much discussion has taken place especially in gun clubs re: the open deer season, should it be shortened? Should bucks only be killed? And on it goes.

Where the bag is limited, the length of open season before show gets deep should not matter, whether it is two weeks or two months. Where the season is short more hunters are in the woods creating a hazard not only for the hunters but also for game as they are more likely to be kept on the move. Whereas a long open season does not keep all the hunters out at one time.

In regards to hunting dogs, there seems to be a lot of misunderstanding, sentiment, or ignorance, perhaps a little of all three.

We would do well to listen to those who make it their livelihood, and can approach the problem on a scientific basis.

Our fish and game branch, have competent biologists, who make recommendations which are based on facts. Our conservation officers are just as concerned about preserving our wild life as we are.

There are many deer killed out of hunting season, dogs running at large kill more deer than wolves. Perhaps more die off during severe winters from lack of food, than from any other cause. Many are killed on our highways, deer of all kinds will suffer where bush lands are overgrazed by domestic livestock. They are also subject to some cattle diseases.

What can be done to improve conditions? We can watch where deer usually cross the highway and avoid hitting them with motor vehicles. Our government can set aside more unsettled land for provincial parks and game preserves. Controlled fires are helpful, as deer just love burned over areas. Large areas of wild and uncultivated bush-lands should not be sold, for in such case all our good hunting may someday be lost.

"No Hunting." Closing the deer season on deer, will not improve the habitat, it could worsen conditions for deer by increasing the herd where feed will not support them.

Our government, by protecting hunter rights adds much to the nation's economy, for hunters spend millions of dollars annually in our province for licenses and equipment. B.C. is known by sportsmen the world over as a great "Big Game" country, may it always be so.

Bucks are generally not so good for the locker, toward the end of the season, that is when doe season might be open to advantage. There are many things can be done to improve our deer herd, but meddling with the game regulations is not one of them. Let us leave that part to the game department, for that is their business.

CENSUS CENSORED

Sir: What age are you? Answer this to your neighbor, or a policeman will see that you do. Even the questioner I believe gags at this one and takes the law into his or her own hands and answers it him or herself.

This is in reference to the humiliating, embarrassing, tyrannical we are about to endure again. Canada's census starts in June.

I had hoped the last would indeed be that. For in 1961 a good deal of trouble broke out in the Okanagan, spreading across Canada. In Vancouver a prominent person went "all the way" against the law, ultimately being fined $50. In another province a retired man only yielded to his tormentor on account of his wife who could not stand the strain of his rebellion.

That census proved people do not like compulsory questioning. The charge that censuses are unnecessary was not convincingly met. Putting these two factors together, why, then, are we under harassment again?

For their imposition the census bureau are seeking candidates. Obviously, a prime feature of their choice will be people with a pleasing personality. These should be the very people most sensitive in understanding they are being enticed into committing, to put it mildly, a most disconcerting act upon their neighbor.

Yours sincerely,
ALEC C. BEASLEY

OTTAWA REPORT

Peyton Province Tag For Ontario?

By PATRICK NICHOLSON

Should Ontario be renamed "Peyton Province"?

Without a vestige of irony, this comment arose when two Ontario M.P.s were recently discussing the breakdown in morals, ethics and discipline in modern society among today's juveniles.

One M.P. cited a high school of his knowledge where all but two students in a group of 16-year-olds regularly smoke cigarettes; the other M.P. matched this by describing a high school where some students were dismissed for drunkenness. The first M.P. capped that by citing 30 pregnancies in a year at another school. Then the phony sociological inquiries on a certain deplorable TV program were discussed, and the roof blew off.

Is there a crisis among our kids now? Are their souls just youthful exuberance? Is it merely a sub-conscious reaction against authority? Or is there a complete breakdown in our community, at all levels, with juvenile delinquency showing up as the most prominent tip of the larger iceberg?

TODAY'S OPPORTUNITIES

These two M.P.s agreed that the young of today have opportunities completely unmatched by what they had known in their youth. They have opportunities to receive education and training, they have material advantages, they have protection such as earlier generations never knew. But, I interjected, do they have the affection and the family togetherness which their fathers and grandfathers enjoyed? Is today's youth too feather-bedded in material ways, and yet starved of important elements of the heart and character?

Yes, agreed an M.P., the family car certainly tends to break-up rather than unify the family; and TV, while it may create physical togetherness of a family huddled in front of it, smother's family discussion.

Never before, I was agreed, and Canada's youth have such wonderful opportunities for acquiring education and marketable skills. But never before did schools and colleges have so many drop-outs. Somehow before high schools numbered wives among their classes of teenagers; but never before have schools and colleges had so many unwed mothers or mother-in-laws in their student body.

What is the reason for the switch from the practice of the Victorian virtues to the license of the Mod age within one, or perhaps two generations? Why do we have on the one hand more murders than ever before, and on the other hand the loudest ever clamor for abolition of the death penalty? Why do we tolerate and accept as normal the intrusion into our homes via the idiot box of people using words and discussing topics which our fathers would never have put up with?

Is it a "good thing" that employment of the state, for example, should be permitted to enter our homes—and that same idiot box—and describe to our teenage children how they can get a kick out of sniffing aerogelene glue in a paper bag. Now, if they are girls, they can earn $18 an hour as many students at high schools? Is it a "good thing" that the fact that Ontario—and no doubt other provinces equally—deserve to be renamed Peyton Province; the wanton waste of the wonderful opportunities for education among the young; the fecklessness and lack of ambition among the older; the concern of such of the world with affairs of state. These are the great questions of today.

GREATEST PROBLEM

These two M.P.s, whose names I have deliberately withheld, are indeed concerned. The lack of moral fibre in our community; the fact that Ontario—and no doubt other provinces equally—deserve to be renamed Peyton Province; the wanton waste of the wonderful opportunities for education among the young; the fecklessness and lack of ambition among the older; the concern of such of the world with affairs of state. These are the great questions of today.

But what action is being taken when leadership is being taken by our government and by M.P.s of all parties?

Canada Will Be Big Buyer For 1966 New Zealand Lamb

AUCKLAND (CP)—Canada

ranked as top customer for the 1965 export season in New Zealand efforts to find markets for lamb outside Britain. But the United States shows the greatest increase in purchases.

Lamb is New Zealand's biggest meat export, but the market is vulnerable through heavy reliance on Britain as almost the only large-scale purchaser. Britain even today buys more than 90 per cent of New Zealand lamb exports.

Major efforts have been made in recent years to find new markets, especially in view of the possibility of British entry to the European Economic Community. The most extensive promotional campaigns have been mounted in Canada and the United States.

Figures of sales for the 1965 season follow in brackets in the previous season in brackets:

Canada 3,791 tons ($203), United States 3,633 ($217), West Indies 1,154 ($103), Pacific Islands 1,101 ($63), West Africa 1,039 ($81). The art-belt customers were Cyprus, Greece, Malaysia, Italy and Japan.

Promotional efforts in North America have recently come under criticism. Owing to extra costs in selling in the area, the returns from sales to North America in the last five years have been about 50,000,000 less than equivalent sales to Britain would have returned.

The actual prices paid on the North American market were as good or better than in Britain, but promotional and distribution costs, United States import duties and other expenses reduce the net return. The deficit has had to be made up from funds put aside by the meat producers' board.

CANADA'S STORY

Troops High Jinks Fooled Louisberg

By BOB BOWMAN

In 1745 a force of amateur soldiers from New England supported by units of the Royal Navy, did the impossible. They captured the French fortress of Louisbourg, then considered to be the strongest in the world. After sailing from Nantucket, with a stop at Canso where it was joined by the naval unit, it had landed a few miles west of Louisbourg on April 30.

It was then that the governor of Louisbourg made his first mistake. He did not send enough troops to stop the landing, which was made quite easily. Then on May 2 came a development that made the entire operation successful. It was one of those small things that sometimes make all the difference between defeat or victory in a war.

A small detachment of the New England force, led by "fisherman" Vaughan, made a diversionary move to the north side of the harbor. The men were glad to be on shore after the long ocean voyage and felt like kicking up their heels. Instead of marching quietly, they were singing and shouting, and "behaving in a most unprofessional manner" as described in the official record.

Instead of bringing an attack on themselves, the wild antics unnerved a French unit defending some naval stores north of the Royal Battery, and it fled. The wild New Englanders walked in, took what they wanted, and set fire to the establishment. There was a good deal of pitch in the building, and as it burned heavy clouds of black smoke drifted over the Royal Battery. For some reason this unnerved its defenders, and they fled!

Fisherman Vaughan sent an Indian ahead to scout the Royal Battery, and learned that it had been evacuated. The New Englanders then walked into the strongest defense position in Louisbourg without firing a shot. One of the young colonial soldiers climbed the mast, and fastened his red jacket there as a flag.

The French tried to regain the position later, but the New Englanders held them off. It was the beginning of the end for Louisbourg.

St. Theresa's Church in Rutland was decorated with lilacs and yellow chrysanthemums on April 16 at 8 p.m. when Audrey Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ackerman of Kelowna, exchanged marriage vows with Jerome John Merton, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Merton of Rutland.

Father F. L. Flynn officiated at the double-ring ceremony, and the soloist Mrs. Reginald Martin, sang the Ave Maria and O Beautiful Morning, accompanied by Mrs. Chapman at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father the pretty bride wore a full length gown of nylon or-gandy over rayon tulle. Her long blimp sleeves featured buttons and loops at the wrists. Her full skirt and detachable train of organza over net which fell gracefully from a satin bow at the shoulder line were bordered with appliqued lace. Her scalloped veil of fine nylon tulle was held in place with a miniature chrysanthemum, and she wore a drop pearl necklace which was a gift from the groom, and carried a bouquet of deep red roses and lily of the valley.

For something old, something borrowed the bride carried her mother's rosary.

The maid of honor, Miss Denise Merton of Rutland, and the bridesmaid, Miss Elfrida Sutherland of Kelowna, wore similar dresses of ice blue satin peau de soie styled with bell shaped skirts accented with bows at the waistline. Their headresses were matching bows centered with white flowers, and they wore identical drop pearl necklaces, gifts from the bride. They carried bouquets of pink roses.

The little sister of the bride, Carol Ackerman who was the flower girl, was enchanting in a dress similar to those of the bridesmaids accented with a huge bow at the back waistline.

There were a matching bow trimmed with lace on her hair, and she carried a nosegay of pink roses. Young Lloyd Kuper of Kelowna was the ring bearer, and acting as best men were Ed Senn and Tony Ackerman, both of Kelowna. The ushers were Tony Merton of Vernon and Kenneth Suter of Rutland.

At the reception which followed in the East Kelowna Community Hall, the mother of the bride received wearing a beige sheath dress with a matching jacket, a white hat, white accessories and a corsage of orange tinted carnations. The groom's mother who assisted in receiving the guests chose a white two-piece suit with a mauve hat complimented with a corsage of mauve carnations.

The toast to the bride, proposed by the toast master Kenneth Senn, was aptly answered by the groom, and the toast to the bridesmaid was given by Ed Senn. Miss Catherine Ackerman was in charge of the guest book.

A three tiered wedding cake centered the bride's table, and lovely arrangements of daffodils and tulips completed the table decorations.

Out of town guests attending the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Tony Merton of Vernon; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kuper of Edgewood; Mrs. Anne Merton; Mrs. Helman and Mrs. Harauf of Wukie, Sask.; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ackerman of Penitence, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Rimmer of Pithers, Alta.; Mr. and Mrs. George Ackerman of Calgary; Mr. and Mrs. John Ackerman; Mr. and Mrs. Mac Morison; Miss Diane Morison and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ackerman all of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. Minard Ackerman of Monte Rose; Mr. and Mrs. F. Metz of Penitence and Mr. and Mrs. Tony Feser from Grinrod, B.C.

To travel South on her honeymoon the bride changed to a green linen suit with a smart white hat and white patent accessories.

The newlyweds will reside on Hardy Road in Rutland.

Kelowna Couple Celebrate Their Silver Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. MacKinnon, celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary on Saturday, April 16, at the Centennial Hall, with 75 friends and relatives attending the happy occasion.

The couple, who were married at Penitence on April 17, 1941, moved to Vernon where Mr. MacKinnon was employed by the Okanagan Telephone Company. In 1946 they moved to Revelstoke where they lived for six years before making their home in Kelowna in 1951.

During an interlude in the evening of dancing, Mrs. J. Smith read a poem, composed by herself and Mrs. H. Tupman, which was humorously received by the guests, and this was followed by the opening of the many lovely anniversary gifts.

The Centennial Hall was prettily decorated with Spring blossoms, and the two tiered anniversary cake centering the table was decorated with a central motif of the names "Don and Gerrie", etched in silver and was flanked by tall tapers in silver candlesticks.

At midnight a delicious smorgasbord supper was served, and a toast was proposed to the hosts by Arnold Wieg, to which Mr. MacKinnon ably responded.

Present at the anniversary were Mr. and Mrs. MacKinnon's sons, Rick MacKinnon of Ladysmith, and Fred and Brian of Kelowna. Attending from Penitence were Mrs. B. MacKinnon, Mrs. M. Collier, Mrs. Kathy Kay, Mr. and Mrs. M. Rodhouse and Clark, and Mr. and Mrs. F. Larivee. From Osoyoos came Mr. and Mrs. I. McKay, and from Vernon Mr. and Mrs. E. Cokey. From Halvogue, Sask. were Mr. and Mrs. T. Jenner, Mr. and Mrs. D. Johanson and E. Bouch.

ANN LANDERS

Do Smokers Appear Rude To All Non Smokers?

Dear Ann Landers: You were wrong, wrong, wrong when you said people should have ash trays around for guests who smoke even if they don't smoke themselves. Why? To encourage the filthy habit? Ash trays are an invitation to smoke. When there are no ash trays a guest should take the hint.

We have no ash trays in our home because we don't want people to smoke. If a guest asks if he may light up we tell him (as politely as we can) to take his cigarettes outside. He can like it or lump it.

I happen to know you are a non-smoker, Ann, and that you have repeatedly spoken out against tobacco. In a recent column you told a teen-ager, "Smoking is a dirty, offensive, expensive, ugly habit and we now have indisputable evidence that it is damaging to health. Don't start."

Why did you suddenly abandon this stand? Please explain. —DEEPLY DISAPPOINTED

Dear Deeely: You are right, I was wrong. I plead temporary insanity and recommend that my punishment be 10 lashes with a wet tobacco leaf. When there are no ash trays in sight a guest should indeed take the hint.

You are correct when you say I am a militant anti-cigarette girl. I blast the weed whenever I can—in fact I've been accused of being a bit of a nut on the subject. I know someone who is even nuttier than I am and I'm going to print part of his column which appeared in the Minneapolis Tribune. The writer is Will Jones and this is what he had to say:

"An open letter from a Non-Smoker-to-All-Smokers:-Having trouble kicking the habit? Well, I'm sick of hearing about it. I'm sick of the whining and hawing and yapping about the surgeon general's report. I'm bored with all the jokes about the trouble you're having trying to give up cigarettes.

"For 40 years I've lived in a world dominated by smokers. I've complained very little. I've accepted the fact that this is a smoker's world. But I'm through being quiet about it.

"Do you know how you smokers look to those of us who don't smoke? You are ill-bred, ill-mannered, inconsiderate a-hole. You may think you look glamorous like the smokers to the ads and the movies, but you don't. You have a nasty habit and you look ridiculous. Furthermore you stink. Your clothes stink, your breath stinks and you stink up the whole world around you.

"I play a little game with women who expect me to light their cigarettes. I out-wait them. Some give up and light their own. Others ask for a light. Last night one babe said, 'Well, aren't you going to light my cigarette?' I replied, 'No, I'd rather you didn't smoke.' She lit up anyway and that got me mad. I grabbed the cigarette out of her mouth, snuffed it out and tore it to shreds.

"Do you think I am rude?" I asked? "Yes," she answered. "I am not half as rude as you," I told her.

"I've had it up to here with sore, red eyes caused by other people's smoke. I've had it up to here with burned rugs and floors and furniture because of fumes who not only are slaves to a habit but are so fumble-fingered they can't even handle it. And unless you smoke in absolute fireproof privacy, with other smokers, you are intolerable. You are the enemy."

SALLY'S SALLIES

"No, Mother, she didn't steal your pattern."

Youth Movement Hits New Edition Of Labatts

Time has run out for Kelowna Labatts manager, Henry Tostenen. The opening game is to be played in Penticton Wednesday night and the home opener for the Labatts is Saturday night at Elks Stadium. Tostenen has many decisions to make between now and Wednesday night regarding the composition of his first edition of the Labatts.

The Labatts are playing fairly in a youth movement this year with a gentle sprinkling of veteran players. Only three of last year's Labatt team will be seeing regular action when the Labatts open in Penticton.

Wayne Leonard, Alf Davey and Gerry Robertson are the three holdovers. Tostenen is counting on to settle the young club into a winning pattern. Davey will be holding down the shortstop position with Robertson guarding first base. Leonard's place on the club is up in the air at the moment, but Wayne will probably see action in the outfield and behind the plate.

On the mound Tostenen has two former Kelowna minor league players in the persons of Allan Vetter and Ken Ross. Both have looked good in training and should give the club suitable pitching. A newcomer from Saskatchewan, Dan Hadzue is also being counted upon to lead some of the spots in the outfield. Behind the plate the Labatts have youngster, Doug Bailey. Bailey has looked impressive in work-out. He knows how to handle himself behind the plate and so far he has been swinging a good bat.

Reports coming from other spots throughout the Valley indicate the Penticton Mustangs might be the team to beat. Their power came to light in their opening game Saturday night when they whitewashed Kamloops 19-4. Jim Terbasket and Steve Yarno combined to hold Kamloops to a scoreless inning. The display began with a massed exercise which included all the performers from the novice to the advanced gymnasts. The show progressed with displays from the 5-6 year old girls on the low balance beam, and the young boys class doing free exercises and games.

One of the best performances of the night was put on by Cliff Ames, a student at Kelowna Secondary. Cliff, one of the top gymnasts in B.C. performed on the still rings and the even parallel bars. Cliff also performed feats on the high bar.

Six of the better performers on the girls' team gave the audience an idea of the routine followed in competitive meets. The routine included cartwheels, rolls and many other movements needed to have a balanced routine suitable for competition.

The show closed with a display by four of the club members on the trampoline.

Gym Show Impressive Despite Poor Attendance

More than 200 of Kelowna's own Secondary School. The finest gymnasts performed for occasion was the fifth annual last time for the current Kelowna Gymnastics Club Gymnastics Saturday night at Kel-Duplay. Despite the poor attendance the performers put on a thrilling show.

Rutland Emerges Winner In Softball Opening Game

Six errors made the difference in the opening game of the 1966 Senior Men's Softball League, played at Centennial Park in Rutland. The six errors were enough to let Rutland squeeze past Willow 10-3.

Wally Sehn pitched two-hit ball for the Willows while Rutland's pitcher Arnie Rath allowed nine hits.

WALLY SEHN

Willows drew first blood in the third inning, but their lead was shortlived when Rutland gained back the run in the bottom half of the third inning. Willows made it 3-1 in the fifth but they ran into problems in the home half of the fifth when they gave up four unearned runs to complete the scoring.

Facing the hitters were Eugene Knorr of the Willows and Don Krochinsky for Rutland who both had a 2-4 night.

Tonight, action at King's Stadium under the lights, Royals meeting Carlings.

Valley Rugger Championship Rests At Kelowna Secondary

Henning Victor In Texas Open

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Harold Henning, a South African pro, Sunday won the $80,000 Texas Open golf tournament by three strokes.

He fired a two-under-par 68 for a three-round total of 272. His third round continued a surge he started Saturday when he raced from far back in the field to tie for third by shooting a 65. His earlier rounds were 72 and 67.

The 31-year-old Johannesburg pro collected $13,000 as the winner's purse.

Gene Littler, who led after the first and third rounds, faded quickly, firing a three-over-par 73 on the 6,715-yard Oak Hills Country Club course made soggy by almost an inch of rain Sunday morning.

Sharing second place with Littler at 275 were Wes Ellis Jr. and Ken Sill.

Dave Marr, who had a shot at the title from just two strokes back at the turn, slipped on the back nine and ended up with 72, good for a third-place tie with Jay Hebert and Terry Dill.

The final round was interrupted by rain for two hours during the morning and a complete washout of the day was threatened just before noon. The rain stopped, however, and play continued under heavily overcast skies.

OLYMPIC BID
DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Colorado's Olympic commissioner announced Wednesday a concerted effort will be made to bring the winter Olympic Games to the state in 1976. The formal bid must be made in 1970.

Richard H. Olson of Denver, commission chairman, said that with award of the 1972 Games to Japan "there is a better probability of bringing the 1976 Games back to the North American continent."

Mark Smith and Paul Hatch paced Midvalley. Smith swung a big bat going 3 for 3 and Hatch had a 2-3 day at the plate. Adding insult to injury was Midvalley's pitcher, John Hatch, who struck out 11 Legion batters.

Bill Robson threw out the first pitch to Mayor R. F. Parkinson. Gord Smith, Parks and Recreation director caught the first ball.

SHIRTTAIL CHECK BY TOUGH TEDDY

dropped to the ice to block the shot.

Montreal Re-Established As Stanley Cup Favorites

DETROIT (CP) — No matter how you look at the current best-of-seven series for the Stanley Cup, you run into questions.

Among them:

Will the loss of netminder Roger Crozier end the hopes of the Red Wings?

Can either club win at home?

Ralph Backstrom took just five seconds to turn from a goal into a hero when he scored Canadiens' winning goal 13½ minutes into the final period and gave his team a 2-1 victory Sunday afternoon before 15,154 fans.

Captain Jean Beliveau scored the other Montreal goal and Norm Ullman replied for Detroit.

The result brought the Canadiens level in games with Detroit for the first time in the series. Each club now has won twice away from home. The fifth game is scheduled for 8 p.m. EDT Tuesday in Montreal with the sixth here Thursday at 8 p.m. EST. If a seventh game is needed, it will be in Montreal Saturday night.

The victory re-established the Canadiens as favorites to capture their second consecutive Stanley Cup, their 12th overall and seventh in 11 years under coach Toe Blake.

The Wings, striving to bebeen in a playoff game since the 1951 semi-finals.

Backstrom saw service for the Canadiens just twice in the game prior to being sent out for the play that brought Montreal the winning goal. The second time out he let Ullman shake loose and it cost the Habs a goal.

Blake said Backstrom, 28, a native of Kirkland Lake, Ont., was "getting into trouble" early in the game and "I just decided to sit him out for a while."

Montreal generally went with two lines and for part of the final period Blake inserted Rousseau in Backstrom's normal spot between Jim Roberts and Dick Duff.

"By the time I threw him back in, Rousseau had been out there for a while and was getting tired."

In five seconds Backstrom was a hero as he finished a three-way play with Roberts and Duff, turning the puck into the Detroit goal from just outside the crease.

Vancouver-Spokane Split Mounties Drop To Fourth

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Vancouver Mounties rallied out 13 hits Sunday in the opener of a Pacific Coast League doubleheader at Spokane but wished they had saved some of the bat-action for the eighth.

The Mounties beat the Indians 6-1 in the first game, led by veteran Jim Hughes' four hits — including two doubles — and three run-batted-in.

But despite a two-run homer by Ramon Webster and a solo effort by Dick Rowe, the Vancouver club was edged 4-3 by the Indians in the second game, an extra-inning affair.

Spokane scored first in the eighth with a two-run homer in the second, but Mounties came back with two homers. Spokane tied it with runs on the first and sixth, and the scheduled seven-inning game went into extra innings.

John Werbas walked in the eighth, stole second and reached third by beating a fielder's choice throw.

Werbas scored Spokane's winning run on a sacrifice fly by Dick Smith.

In other PCL action, Phoenix climbed closer to the eastern division's first place.

While rain halted the division-leading Tulsa Oilers Sunday, second-place Phoenix erased a 2-0 Indianapolis lead in the ninth inning and beat the Indians 3-2 in the 11th when Ken Henderson homered.

Seattle climbed to one-half game behind the first-place Hawaiian Islanders in the western division with an 11-4 win over the Islanders; Denver trounced San Diego 6-2 to snap a five-game losing streak and Portland lambasted Tacoma 9-2.

A walk by Phoenix pitcher Bob Garibaldi and an error by third-baseman Ozzie Virgil produced the first run in Indianapolis in the opening frame.

Three Garibaldi walks and an infield out in the third gave the Indians the second score.

The teams battled scorelessly for five innings; then in the top of the sixth a single by Henderson and a sacrifice fly by Jim McKnight capped a Phoenix rally to tie the game. Henderson homered two innings later to win it.

Denver pounded three San Diego pitchers for 13 hits including a grand-slam homer by Rich Reese. Frank Kostro put Denver ahead in the second with a solo homer that sailed more than 200 feet. San Diego tied it before a five-run Denver seventh, that featured Reese's blast, sewed it up.

Portland was never headed in its game at Tacoma—in fact, it scored all nine of its runs before Tacoma got on the scoreboard in the ninth with a two-run rally. A walk to Willie Williams opened the game, and Richard Lee Booker followed with a home run to start Portland's 12-hit attack.

At Hawaii, Seattle Angels scored eight runs in the last two innings to pull away from a 3-3 tie. Minnie Rojas pitched the route for Seattle, fanning 11 Islanders and allowing eight hits, four of them — including two homers — by Gerry Kusner. Bennie Daniels started for Hawaii and held the Angels in check until the eighth, when he was driven out. At the end of the game the Angels had amassed 16 hits.

San Francisco Wins Two But Still Sit In Second

By MURRAY CHAM

Associated Press Sports Writer

Willie Mays added to his recent problems Sunday by suffering a bruised left knee in San Francisco Giants' 2-0 victory over St. Louis Cardinals.

The injury, suffered in a first base collision with the Cardinals' George Kernes, forced Mays from the game in the fourth inning, marking the third time in the last week that he left a game before it was over.

A cold and an upset stomach sent Mays home early last Tuesday and Wednesday and kept him out of the line-up Thursday. Contributing to his ills was a bruised right hand, which caused him to throw his bat a couple of times.

The result has been a drastic reduction in his hitting output. When he hit his 511th homer and tied Mel Ott's National League career record last Sunday, it gave Mays six homers in the Giants' first 12 games.

COULDN'T BREAK RECORD

But in the next six games, Mays not only failed to break the record, he also has seen his batting average drop 62 points from .348 to .286.

The Giants scored their first run with the help of third baseman Charlie Smith's bad throw on Mays' grounder. Dick Schofield went to third on the play and scored as Willie McCovey flied out. Gaylon Perry stopped St. Louis on four hits.

First Day's Travel Claims Three In Rally

CALGARY (CP) — Two Ontario rallyists carried a third lead into the second leg of the 4,000-mile Vancouver to Quebec City car rally.

Paul Melanson of Toronto and John Wilson of Waterloo, Ont., parked up only 15 penalty points in their Lotus-Ford Cortina on the first leg of the rally.

Six of the 40 entries dropped out in the leg.

Today's 18-hour grand will end late this afternoon at Saskatoon after a special speed section at Camp Wainwright, a military base in east central Alberta.

Even Graham and Henry Arneson of Calgary packed up only 20 penalty points in their Volvo during the 18-hour overnight run from Vancouver.

Roger Clarke of London, England, and teammate Robert Edwards of Falmouth, Que., drove their Cortina to third place with 37 points, three points less than Jim Morrison of Scarborough, Ont., and Jim Peters of Don Mills, Ont., in their Chevrolet.

LEADS WOMEN'S SECTION

Foremost South of Dublin Ireland, took first in the women's division and sixth overall with 90 points, only two more than fifth place Scott Harvey of Dearborn Heights, Mich., and Mike Kerry of Toronto in their Valiant.

Miss Smith, driving a Sunbeam Imp with Anne Coombe of Toronto, had a wide margin over Diana Carter of Toronto, winner of the Coupe de Dame award every year since 1963. Terry Gillick of St. Lambert, Que., is driving with Miss Carter in a Fiat 500.

The first day spelled the end of the three-car team of Darius 1800 sports cars. One, driven by Lloyd Saunders and Jeremy Greenfield, both of the Vancouver area, crashed in the first special section near Grand Forks, B.C., and was unable to restart.

The second, driven by Klaus Ross of Montreal, winner of the 4,000-rally in 1964 and 1965, broke an oil line shortly before reaching Calgary and the engine seized.

McDowell Paces Indians To 11th Win In 12 Starts

By MIKE BATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

They're calling him Sudden Sam McDowell, but Sensational Sam would seem to be more appropriate for a pitcher who has collected as many hits in one game as he's given up in two.

McDowell, Cleveland Indians ace lefthander, collected two hits Sunday and his second straight American League one-hitter, allowing only a double by Don Buford in the second inning as he pitched the Indians to a 1-0 victory over Chicago White Sox.

McDowell also lived up to his Sudden label, applied because of his blazing speed, by striking out 10 and bringing his major-league-leading total to 49. The undefeated southpaw also became the first American League pitcher to win four games and lower his earned run average to a sparkling 1.34.

The victory was the 11th in 12 games this season for the Indians, who started off by winning their first 10 games. The 10-game winning streak was matched Sunday by Baltimore Orioles, who lifted their record to 12-1 by defeating Detroit Tigers 4-1.

ALL SPLIT

The other teams played doubleheaders and all split.

Minnesota Twins lost to Washington Senators 3-3, and won 3-1. California Angels whipped Boston Red Sox 6-1 before losing 9-1, and Kansas City Athletics blanked New York Yankees 1-0 before losing 10-4.

On Saturday, New York defeated Kansas City 6-0, California defeated Boston 16-9, Baltimore edged Detroit 3-2, and games between Chicago and Cleveland and Minnesota and Washington were rained out.

Neither club could hit the net in the first overtime period and only one penalty was handed out.

Late in the third period, Leaf goalie John Henderson set up the Victoria Win.

Henderson, a late-season acquisition from San Francisco Seals who kicked out 40 shots during the evening, caught a Buckaroo shot and fed it ahead to Claude Labrosse who fired it past Jack Kelly for the winning marker.

Kelly, second goalie used by the Bucks in the game, had 26 saves in the 2½ periods he played. Rick Charron had 13 during his stint in the first two periods.

Bucks-Leafs Play 95 Minutes Before Winner Is Declared

Fred Hull scored two goals for Victoria and the Leafs got singles from Mike Labadie, Andy Heberton and Milan Martetta.

Buckaroos dominated the first 30 minutes of action and cashed in on glaring defensive errors by Leafs for four goals in the first two periods.

Andy Heberton's goal at 6:12 of the third period tied the score at 4-5 and both clubs began playing cautious hockey — a brand that carried over into overtime.

Claude Labrosse took a pass from Victoria goalie John Henderson and charged in to score Leafs' winning goal at 14:45 of the second overtime period.

The Buckaroos, who finished first in regular season WHL play, three times blew two-goal leads to the persistent Maple Leafs. Bucks also took the lead in the third period after Leafs had come from behind to tie the score at 4-4 early in the stanza.
